

Mainframe Consulting

OBJECTIVE

The primary focus of mainframe consulting will be to oversee technical architecture implementation and modification activities. Document all technical architecture design, analyze and define the principles to guide technology decisions for the enterprise. The consultant will analyze technology and market trends and determine potential impact upon the enterprise. He will participate in offerings / applications review meetings to formalize the offerings / applications roadmap. He will work with the offerings / applications team to streamline business requirements and technology adopted into a solution. He will be responsible to actively review the new deals from delivery perspective including processes, pricing and structures and financial impact of the offering / applications. As a consultant, he maintains relationships with the offerings / applications team, sales, technical sales, and development teams. The role also provides the required governance in all activities associated with compliance in delivery.

WHAT WILL WE DELIVER

The scope of activities will include any of the following:

- Identify IT base case and ascertain the client's future vision
- Understand Business Strategy & Plans
- Determine Current / Planned Technology Environment
- Determine IT Strategy & Plans
- Define Future Vision
- Understand Business Strategy & Plans
- Evaluate IT Environment and Plans
- Evaluate IT Services
- Evaluate IT Cost and Value
- Evaluate IT Processes / Organization / Management Tools
- Evaluate Alternative Solution Approaches
- Evaluate Organizational Change Readiness
- Initiate Definition & Transition Planning
- Complete Transition Plan

The deliverables will be based on the contracted activities. It could be anything from "Business Direction" or "IT Infrastructure Model" or "Capability Model" or "Transition Plan" are a few examples.

Mainframe Consulting

TIME FRAME

SMT Data will assign an Consultant onsite on a T & M basis for a specific period depending on the client requirement.

CUSTOMER REQUIREMENTS

The Customer identifies the focus areas and key personnel to be involved in the consulting engagement.